

Illuminated parking areas offer more security.

Car parks do not continuously need to be illuminated all the time.

The presence of people or vehicles is signaled by active motion detectors. The solar lights operate with an increased luminosity only when light is needed and therefore provide a brighter environment for more security.