

Independent photovoltaic lamp "hei solar light™" will be shown at the Light and Colour Congress in Wieselburg

Innovative and trendsetting light engineering is open to the Austrian public (15.9.2008) – This year the exhibition for construction and energy in Wieselburg, the “Bau & Energie Messe” 2008, is complemented for the first time by the Congress for Light and Colour. The Congress presents innovations and results regarding the scientific and practical sector and shows the newest and latest products. Take a look at hei solar light™ in front of the entrance of hall 5 and catch up on aesthetic forms of independent and energy-efficient illumination.
